

AAPC CPC® Certification Preparation — Course Agenda

Classroom & Online Live Training

Prerequisites: No prior medical coding experience required. AAPC has no strict eligibility prerequisites, but strongly recommends training before the exam. Basic understanding of healthcare/life sciences is helpful but not mandatory — Anatomy & Physiology is covered from the fundamentals in Week 1.

Course Duration: 2–3 months, delivered as classroom sessions in Bangalore/Hyderabad or live online across India.

Batch Options: Weekday batches and dedicated Weekend batches for working professionals. Trainer-led, with live doubt clarification — not self-paced/self-study.

Certificate: INFOMETIZ Certificate of Completion issued on satisfactory completion of assessments and mock exams.

Course Description

This course prepares students in the principles of medical coding across the three core code sets — CPT®, ICD-10-CM, and HCPCS Level II — with training delivered by real-time industry expert trainers. It is designed for anyone entering medical coding for a physician's office, hospital, or RCM/healthcare BPO setting, and is strongly recommended for students preparing for the AAPC CPC® certification examination. AAPC Membership, Credential & Eligibility

- AAPC membership is required to sit the CPC® exam. Membership is purchased directly from AAPC (see Fee & AAPC Costs below).
- Eligibility: AAPC has no strict prerequisites for the CPC® exam, but strongly recommends relevant training and education — including medical terminology, anatomy & physiology and the three code sets — before sitting the exam.
- CPC-A (Apprentice) status: candidates who pass the exam without prior coding experience receive the CPC-A credential. The "A" is removed after about two years of medical coding experience, which AAPC may reduce through additional coursework such as Practicode.
- Code books: the exam is open-book. At the exam center AAPC provides unused, current-year CPT® Professional, ICD-10-CM and HCPCS Level II books for you to use during the test.

Credential rules are set by AAPC and may change — confirm the latest requirements at aapc.com.
